POWER | A native of Savannah, in 2005 Leah Ward Sears became the first African American woman to serve as Chief Justice of any state supreme court.

#WHM2023 | March is Women's History Month. We are "Celebrating Women Who Tell Our Stories" throughout the month. This theme is adopted from the National Women's History Alliance, which spearheaded the movement for March to be declared National Women's History Month.

History helps us learn who we are, but our power and dreams are immediately diminished when we don't know our history.

Recognizing the achievements of women in all facets of life - domestic workers, science, community, government, literature, art, sports, and medicine - has a significant impact on the development of self-respect and new opportunities for girls and young women.

In Praise of brilliant, beautiful and brave Black Women

LEADER: In memory of Isabella Baumfree who was transformed into Sojourner Truth because the Lord called her to travel up and down the land being a sign and to declare truth to her people. She responded to the man who charged that he cared no more for her than a fleabite, "Maybe not, but the Lord willing, I'll keep you scratching."

PEOPLE: Let the brilliant, beautiful, and brave Black women keep coming as we scratch out justice in the land.

LEADER: By the witness of Harriet Tubman, who in spite of a $40,000 price on her life, challenged her people to "be free or die", and who courageously led them to freedom. She never lost a passenger as she showed her people a better way.

PEOPLE: Let the brilliant, beautiful, and brave Black women keep coming as conductors to keep a people on track to freedom.

LEADER: By the inspiration of Ida B. Wells and the First National Confederacy of Colored Women; Mary Margaret Washington and the National Federation of Afro-American Women; Mary Church Terrell and the National League of Colored Women; Rosa Parks whose tired feet inspired a nation to stand up; and Fannie Lou Hamer who left her cotton sack behind her and founded the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party from whence she took her seat at the 1964 Democratic Convention. These countless women worked hard to inspire, encourage, and register voters so that we could move forward.

PEOPLE: Let the brilliant, beautiful, and brave Black women keep coming as we hammer out political opportunity for women who will change the course of history.

LEADER: We recognize women like Julia Kidd Stout who became the first African American woman elected to the bench in Philadelphia, Constance Baker Motley who was the first Black woman federal judge, and numerous other women of the Judiciary, including Leah Ward Sears, the first African American woman elected to a State Supreme Court and the first African American woman to serve as a Chief Justice of any State Supreme Court.

TOGETHER: Let brilliant, beautiful, and brave Black women keep coming as we render decisions that are equitable, compassionate, and morally sound. Let strong Black women keep coming until we have transformed America and made of this world a brotherhood and sisterhood where there is room for all and we "turn to each other and not on each other".
